Family recipe is winning formula

IT'S official - Village Bakery Café makes some of the best pies in the country and it has struck gold again with their award-winning treats, placing as the overall winner in two gourmet categories and winning 11 awards from 11 this week at the Official Great Aussie Pie Competition in Melbourne.

The prestigious contest, held annually at Fine Foods Australia, has seen the bakery declared the overall winner in both the gourmet poultry category for their chicken and mushroom pie and the game category for their Kangaroo, port and cranberry gourmet pie.

The cafe entered into 11 categories, and won prizes in all 11, including three gold medals in the red meat category for their pepper steak pie; beef and red wine pie and chunky Angus beef and caramelised onion pie.

In addition to six gold medals, Village Bakery Café took home four silver medals for their 100 per cent beef mince pie; curry chicken and vegetable pie; steak Dianne and vegetable mornay pie and a bronze medal for their chicken laksa with green snow peas pie.

Village Bakery Café director and master baker John Stevenson said the bakery had a long history of success with the Great Aussie Pie Competition, with the business entering and winning medals in the competition as far back as the early 1990s.

"Village Bakery Café has been entering the Great Aussie Pie Competition since its inception in 1990 and throughout that time we have won more than 100 medals, including our milestone win as the overall plain meat pie winner in 2003 and 2005, which saw us as the first bakery to be twice judged Australia's best meat pies," Mr Stevenson said.

"We're absolutely thrilled with our success."

Village Bakery Café supervisor, Emma Stevenson believed the café's gourmet pie success lies in secret family recipes passed down throughout four-generations of baking history.

"A passion for baking is in our blood, and you can clearly taste this in our award-winning gourmet pies," she said.

Driver refused bail

A 45-YEAR-OLD Ashmont man was arrested on Friday for allegedly stealing a 1962 EJ Holden sedan from the Dubbo RSL car park.

About 1.45am on Friday, police allege the vehicle was seen travelling through Tomingley by Lachlan Highway Patrol when a short pursuit ensued. The vehicle stopped and the male person was arrested.

Checks on the police radio confirmed the vehicle was stolen, and the driver was a "habitual traffic offender" who was disqualified from driving a vehicle until 2041. The man was conveyed to Dubbo Police Station and later charged. After the man was bail refused at Dubbo Local Court, the man reportedly spat in the face of a Corrective Services Officer and was charged with further offences.

Woman arrested

A 45-YEAR-OLD Dubbo woman was arrested at 4.15pm on Friday, after breaching her current bail conditions by swearing at police.

Dubbo police located the intoxicated woman causing a disturbance in Fitzroy Street and subsequently arrested her. The woman swore and spat at a female police officer, and violently struggled with police before being taken to Dubbo Police Station.

The woman continued to swear at police and urinated in the dock area. She was charged with assault police, breach of bail, malicious damage, using offensive language in a public place and resist arrest. She was bail refused and will appear at Dubbo Local Court.

Man runs from police

A 23-YEAR-OLD West Dubbo man was arrested at 4.20am on Friday, for outstanding warrants and two counts of assaulting police officers.

At the time of the arrest, the man attempted to avoid apprehension by running from police and jumping fences into residential yards. Police located the man hanging by his pants on fence pailings.

As they approached the man to arrest him, he jumped from the fence and tried to punch the police officers before grappling with them. Police used capsicum spray to effect the arrest.
